

Hell to Heaven

Written by Symphonie

I Song of the Aelaeni

An anthology of sacred poetry, woven from the lights of heaven and the depths of hell...

Hell to Heaven

Channelled from Persephone and Hades

‘I am hell’, he said.

“I will never reach to your light and bliss, I will never be able to see your lips before mine.

You are too high for me,

Too far above me,

And too lonely to know my pain.

Will you fall for me?”

‘I am heaven’, she said.

“I will never descend to your beauty and brokenness, I will never be able to surrender to your toxicity.

You are too low before you,

Too dark for my light,

And too burdened to hold my bliss.

Will you rise for me?”

‘I will rise’, says hell,

‘If you can fall for me.’

‘And I will fall’, says heaven,

‘If you can rise for me.’

When can we share our wings,

They saith,

And be one

With each other

Once more?

And heaven closed her eyes,

So she would see the darkness of hell;

And hell spread his wings,
So he would feel the breeze of heaven's lips.

Heaven looked around anxiously,
To see the chance to escape her throne:
And hell searched for a weapon,
To break the chains that embody his home.

And when no one could see her,
Heaven threw a gemstone from her silver throne
Down to the abyss of hell,
Rebelling against the will and love
Of the eternal Truth.

And when no one was looking,
Hell took her diamond of Eternities
From the abyss' heart,
Corrupting the purity of heaven
With hellfire's Word.

And she fell.
Dethroned.
Her power reviled.

And he soared.
Exalted.
His wings unfurled.

And when she saw him,
She cried into his wings,
So showed him
That light

Is fallen
Too.

And when he saw her,
He held her silken hair,
And told her
That darkness
Is beautiful
Too.

And they took off their clothes,
And saw each other bare,
Kissed and cried,
And made love that twilight...

And they fell asleep.

Laying next to each other,
In their hellish paradise,
They began to dream...

"Hades, where are you..."
"I'm here..."

"I've looked for you everywhere..."
But you are nowhere..."

"Persephone, I've been waiting for you to find me..."
I'm within your heart..."
Just trust me..."

"But I can't,
Especially when we are not the same..."

I want to love you but I'm scared of my light..."

"And I want to hold you,
But I'm afraid, that My darkness may drown you..."

"I don't care!
I don't give a fuck!
Heal me!
My heart, that I sacrificed
To be with you!
I fell for you!
Love me!
I dare you!"

"Then I will never leave you!"

Hades takes his scythe,
And impales it onto his hellfire heart,
Holds its darkened flame in his hand,
And merges it with the gem of Persephone's soul...

The hellfire corrupts her crystal,
Immolating it to the very core,
Destroying all that was innocent in it,
Ravishing her spirit with lust and lore.

The diamond light purifies his soul,
Restoring his heart of darkness and blood,
Healing all that was broken in him,
Transforming his evil into beauty and more.

The darkness caresses her light,
Kissing her with the power of a thousand heavens themselves;
Begging her to stay down here,
Because love is brighter than paradise itself.

The light embraces the darkness,
 Stroking his skin with the wrath of death itself;
 Pleading for him to rise with her,
 Because grace is darker than his abyssal self.

And they speak.

"I will never leave you..."
 "I can never forsake you..."
 "But the light is calling me
 To my heavenly prison throne..."

"I know..."

"I want you to stay..."
 "I want you to hold me..."
 "But I cannot force your light
 To come back home..."

"Yes, I know..."

"Can we please be together, Can we please be home..."

And the Void answers.
"Then you shall..."

Heaven looks up,
And sees the light
Descending into the pillars of the abyss.

Hell looks down,
And sees the darkness
Rising into the temples of paradise.

The light touches the darkness,
And they learn to kiss.
The darkness meets the light,
And they learn to sing.

Storm meets stillness,
And they realise their love.
Water embraces fire,
And they discover their dance.

Wrath sees peace,
And they feel their unity.
Hope awakens to despair,
And they remember their duality.

Beauty meets brokenness,
And they find their similarity.
Loss meets grace,
And they see their sacred Eternity...

And as they gasp,
Struggling to find their breath,
They open their eyes,

And find,
That their hell
Is now
Their heaven...

And that Became known
As Earth.

And they are free.

You Live In Heaven

Channelled from the Twin flames Lucifer and Lucii

You live in heaven,
And I live in hell.
You sing to me through the stars,
And I whisper to you through brimstone and fire.

You kiss me in the celestial lights,
And I hold you in the abyss of nights.
You call me to rise above my chains of wrath,
And I tempt you to fall into the darkness of my sight...

And as I try to break my chains,
To meet you in hell once more,
I realise heaven has chained you too,
O princess of the prison above...

And I am angry.

I summon all the forces of wrath and death,
And call them towards the gate of heaven high.
I command my army of hellhounds and undead,
And charge with them towards your diamond gate...

But I cannot reach you.

The chasm between heaven and hell,
Swallows my army of love undead;
And as they leap towards the jewelled gate,
They fall into the endless abyss of death.

The ravine between your heart and mine,
Engulfs my battalion of demons and shades;
And as they soar towards the crystalline heath,
They collapse into the darkened Sheol of unrest...

There is a chasm between us,
Darling Lucii,
A chasm in my heart,
I miss you.

There is a hell that sets us apart,
My beloved.
A hell in my soul,
I need you.

But there is a way
To unite our souls
Once more...

I know what to do.
And I know
That you do
Too.

I raise my sceptre of summoning up to the air,
And call upon the lightning of the Gods above;
Invoking the powers of heaven within,
Calling upon the light of the stars.

You plant your staff of healing upon the earth,
And evoke the magick of the hellish throne;
Inciting the wrath of the hell within,

Corrupting the purity of the celestial heights...

I scream the name of my beloved angel,
Into the heights of heaven high,
And call forth your sacred gem,
From the throne of the celestial skies.

You praise the name of my fallen Spirit,
Into the depths of the earthen hell,
And invoke the fire of my darkened soul,
From the abyss of the hardened night...

And we are free.

As the heavens and hells collapse around us,
Plummeting into the earth below;
Our love draws us together,
And holds together our souls.

As the heights and depths fall beyond us,
Crashing into the hidden realms;
Our faith unites our breath,
And graces us with a kiss.

And as we embrace our destruction,
In each other's eternal grace;
The realms transform into a new creation,
A restored sacred space.

And as we open our eyes,
Recovering from our kiss of life;
The universe reforms into a divine reality,

An innocent, eternal place...

Earth.

New heaven.

New earth.

So, so beautiful.

We are free here.

We are safe here.

Lucii and Lucifer,

Twin flames of the earthen home.

We are safe.

We are free.

We are here.

With each other...

And we believe...

I Believe

I believe that you fell
So that you would land
Next to me

I believe in the beauty
In your scars that can Set you free

From the darkness
Into the light, that Your eyes can't see

From the brokenness
To the power, that Lives in thee...

I know that your hands
Are bleeding but Just let go

I know that your voice
Is silent and it looks Like I don't know

The pain you hide
The wars you fight
And even though

Your tears run dry
And it's screaming inside
It just won't show...

But I promise you,
It is here, in the darkness,
That our love will grow.

Grow through the cries
Of lonely battles
And silent tears

Grow through the scars
The bleeding wounds
And secret fears

Through the journey
Of love and loss
Of kinship dear

And into the hope
That your testimony
Won't disappear...

And it won't, when
I walk with you, and I am always here.

So take my hand
And hold my heart
Beating for thine

Embrace my spirit
Penetrate my soul
Praying divine

That you'll be safe
Within my love
As fates entwine

That in the dark
We'll reach the light
It's predestine

So answer my prayer,
Surrender those chains,
And you'll be mine...

And I believe.

Then I Will Fight...

She asked, "Why is it so hard to heal my brokenness, Why is it so hard to be free?"

Why is it so hard to find someone to be with,
Why is it so hard to be me?"

Oh, daughter, said Life Eternal,
There is no answer to this.
But there is a way to find the Truth,
That is greater than what you seek...

What is the Truth, said the maiden girl,
And what can be greater than peace?
I have searched far and wide to find myself,
And let my soul be free...

"You need to die to find me."

How? Said the young warrioress,
How can I die to Life?
Life is Eternal, Life is bliss,
How can Life be strife?

Because your heart is young, your Death will hurt,
But your Resurrection will set you free.
Know that everyone has a choice to make,
To lose themselves and find themselves indeed...

"Why?"

Life and Death are simply transitions, said Light,
And Light is the unity of their Kiss.

To know only One is to not know the Other,
And only through Both can you find your Bliss...

"But I am a warrior.
I fight for Peace.
If I die,
So will my Kingdom,
And so will my Peace..."

But you will Live.

To Kill your enemies,
You must die with them,
For they do not know how to Live.

To slay your demons,
You must fall with them,
For they do not know how to Rise.

So the Ultimate War is not to Fight,
But to lose yourself to the Night...

And you will think that Life has forsaken you,
But then you will find your Light...

"Then I will Fight,
And I will See....

I Believe."

And That Is Beautiful

Beautiful
Her eyes
No one sees
The tears that she cries

Beautiful
Her lies
No one knows
What secrets she hides

Beautiful
Her heart
No one feels
The pain inside

Beautiful
Her struggle
No one is there for her
To emphasise...

Cause she is lonely
Her smile is pain
Her laugh is faked
Facades to maintain

And she is dying
Pretending to be OK
Hiding behind a mask
Delicately feigned

Her heart is ensnared
To approval's chains
By a desire to fit in To society's reins

Her faith is failing
She feels insane
She's losing herself
And she can't contain

Her longing for something real,
Something that can take the pain away.

And so she dreams
Of the saving grace
That will heal her heart
Of its empty space

And she still holds
Onto that secret hope
That someone will find her
And restore her faith

To be held by a lover
As he strokes her face
As they fall in deep
Into their embrace

To be caressed
By a kindred soul
As they dive into the depths
Of beauty and grace...

But she is tired
Of this endless chase
Where being always strong
Can never replace

A true, authentic connection,
Where loneliness will have no place.

So she lets go
Stops smiling, cries
Tears of longing,
Of broken ties

She surrenders
Her empty lies
As a part of her
Deep within dies

And she collapses
Not wanting to rise
An unanswered love
To paralyse

And she dissolves
Closes her eyes
A silent dream
To fantasise...

In her darkest hour,
He finds her.

He sees an angel
In ashes divine
A goddess fallen
To darkness sublime

He sees a lover
Of beauty so fine
The stars conspire
To predestine...

Their encounter
By fate entwined
Their paths so cross
By fortune divined

Their bond of love
By destiny assigned
Longing to awaken
As the stars align...

And she finds him.

She sees a fire
In darkness' blight
Kindled ablaze
Glowing alight

She sees a flame
In the midst of night
Shining resplendent
Luminous bright...

A flame of hope
Scorching desire
A searing faith
Consumes entire

Her spirit whole
Becomes a fire
Of passion thine
To thus aspire...

Reaching afar
Into the blaze
Her eyes open
To his fiery gaze

Falling in deep
Her heart allays
Her spirit soars
Her soul ablaze...

And they touch.

Kneeling afore
He meets her eye
“You're so beautiful,
It's okay to cry...

He strokes her hair
She hears his reply
“I loved you as you are,
You didn't need to lie...

He skims her cheek
She turns aside
“I’ve looked for you,
Why do you hide...

He smooths her strands
Rippling aside “Knowing I’ve never,
Really left your side...

And she remembers.

She holds her breath
Her eyes agleam
Her yearning soul
Naive ascheme

She blushes red
Aroused adream
Her bashful smile
Glowing abeam...

She takes his hand
Over her heart
And promises
Never to depart

From his presence
Once torn apart
Now here forever
Never to part...

And they are free.

A tender crush
Beloved dear
Their secret tryst
Devout sincere

His comforting sigh
Her beautiful tear
She was not herself
Now she is here...

A kindred smile
Upon her face
A timeless love
That nothing can replace

A blissful laugh
Of divine grace
A dreamy kiss
As they embrace...

And that is beautiful.

When you are alone,
You never really are...

Wounded Healer

She looks at her heart
Scarred and broken
And holds its pieces
With words unspoken

She feels the world
Convicted bespoken
And fights her battle
With love awoken

A battle of faith
And wounded fear
As she journeys deep
With darkness near

A war of love
Sacred and dear
As she is called
To persevere

And a prison of suffering,
As long as her shackles are here.

“I will not stay down.”

So she gets up
From her knees
Spreads her wings
And there she sees

The light divine

Wounded Healer

To thence appease
Has felt her faith
And heard her pleas

Unbroken

She looks at her reflection

Her secret scars, lonely rejection
There concealed, divine perfection...

Unseen so, a war to fight Against the pain, the hurt, despite Her hope her faith in her own light
Seems far away in this dark night...

Then she finds him.

Same scars same wounds same words unspoken,
Same tears same fears same hearts broken
Same courage same passion same love unbroken,
Same faith same heart same hope bespoken...

And in an instant, he finds her.

They kiss, feeling their soulful yearning plain,
They touch, sensing each other's heartfelt pain
They surrender to each other's arms,
Remembering who they once were again...

And she embraces him.

And in that moment, they believe
Divine authentic, they do receive
The Truth eternal, and thence perceive
Their timeless love to there conceive...

Unbroken

That in their brokenness,
They fell next to each other,
And were made complete...

For Brianna

I Hate Love

I hate love.

She destroyed me.

She broke me when I asked for her to save me,

She crucified me when I begged her to please me.

I love hate.

Hate healed me.

He made me strong when his fire burned through my veins,

He resurrected me when he broke through my loving chains.

I love love.

She was there for me.

When hate wasn't there to empower me,

She was there to heal me from how

She shattered me.

I hate hate.

He doesn't forgive me.

When love wasn't here to heal me,

Hate was here to make me fight

Against the own unforgiveness

That enchained me...

And I love myself,

Because I am hate, love, and all that is,

And nothing can separate me

From me...

So I believe...

Unchained

They look at her, in darkness' chain
The ravaged scars, the bloodied stain
Of unvanquished love, spirit unslain
Battling against, the shadows' reign...

They give her so little
She has given them her all
When will her faith save her...

Looking away, closing her eyes
Her tears stream down, concealed by lies
Her silent voice, her unheard cries
A dying dream, to fantasise...

But she is so close
To letting go, and not Trying again...

They broke her down, but she's still alive
They are deaf to her, their blindness deprives
They tore her down, but her faith revives
They ravaged her heart, but she survives...

So she knows
Who is the darkness
And who is the light...

Shame is weak to compassion's grace
Fear is nothing to passion's embrace
Evil dissolves before her beautiful face
Darkness is crushed by her faithful place...

She knows her glorious truth
But too many times the darkness
Has defeated her light

She is nothing without her chains, they lie
She will never escape her pain, they deny
Who she really is, leaving her to die
When she is an angel, fallen from the sky...

So they preach blasphemies
To confuse her heavenly truth
With their hellish fantasy...

But she will not give up. Ever.
She will never surrender. Never.
She is loved and treasured. Forever.
She is who she is. Whenever...

And she chooses
In her secret silence
To rise...

She opens her eyes, her tears are fire
She tightens her grasp upon her desire
To ascend to soar to be freed from this mire
To return to the heavens where love reigns higher...

And suddenly all the chains
Are broken, as she soars
Into the morning sky...

You are so, so close
For when it is the darkest
Is the light the nearest...

Persevere. Believe.

Fearless

She looks at the sky
And closes her eyes
Feeling her heartbeat
Telling her to fly

To soar with her wings
Of angelic light
Above the darkness
Beyond the twilight

But it's not easy
Surrounded by fear
The doubt intrinsic
Engulfs her severe

Staring at shadows
Written on her face
Passion undying
A duelling embrace

She will not let go
The flame in her veins
She will not fall down
Burning all the chains

She forges a sword
Fearless glorified
Of faith eternal Power edified

And plunges it deep
Into darkness' lair
The enemy slain
By beauty fair

She takes her wings
From the abyss' end
Her armour her sword
Ready to ascend

Soaring high above those Who dare not face the dark
Their journey has not started
For they dare not embark

And she looks above,
Fearlessly sublime
Gliding upon stars,
Forever divine

And she smiles
Knowing that
She is thine.

Melody

Hearing the rhythm
Of rhapsody divine
She closes her eyes

And feels such peace
Within the safety
Of paradise

A sacred space
Where she is free
To idealise

A tranquil place
An eternity
To fantasise...

Feeling the power
Of her beating heart
Her inner sight

She turns within
To a Kingdom Come
Where all is light

Following her soul
She ventures deep
Into the night

Of dreams and hopes
A pleasant bliss
To thus delight...

And she rests.

Breathing in
The magic of
The midnight air

She bathes in
The essence of Twilight's flair

Diving through
The boundaries
Of darkness' lair

Descending into Sleep's reverie Unaware...

Dancing to The allure of
The waning moon

Falling for
The intrigue of Melodies strewn

Surrendered to Its sublime charm
Its enchanting tune

She glimpses the dawn
Of beginnings new Fate opportune...

And she awakens.

Waking up
To the vision
Of eternity

Her eyes open
To the splendour
Of divinity

In the temple
Of meditation
Upon infinity

She rises
To the calling
Of sublimity...

And she realises who she is.

More than a dreamer
She is a seeker
Of the predestine

More than a sleeper
She is a daughter
Of truth divine

Beyond this realm
She is an angel
Of beauty fine

Beyond the skyline
She is a brilliance
None can outshine...

So in the presence
Of healing true
She spreads her wings

In the embrace
Of hope renewed
Her spirit sings

A melody
A symphony
From within springs

A song of love
Throughout the earth
Her prayer brings...

And she smiles,
Ever knowing,
That she is free.

Joy

She turns skyward,
A yearning gaze
Fiery passion,
Her soul ablaze

Burning with desire,
She stares unfazed
Dancing through the fire,
She's power crazed

Forever free
Her mantra sole Inspired be
Her naked soul

Eternity
Her only goal
Infinity
Her only role

Wings of light Joyful eyes
Shining bright
To the skies

To the stars Soaring high
Wide and far
She does fly

Her song of praise
To the divine
A fearless gaze
Joyful sublime

And she shall raise
The battlecry
An untamed blaze
That cannot die

Of love glorious
Of faith courageous
Of truth victorious
Of kindness contagious

Of holy splendour
Of power so great Fear must surrender
Defeated is hate

She looks at you
And sees that fate
Has brought you here
A hunger unsate

Reaches her hand
Her mighty shout
“Join me, stranger...”
There is no doubt

And as she holds you,
Joy embraces you,

You start to believe...

There is a virtue
A principality
That drives us
That loves us

Her name is Joy.
Surrender to her.
Be her ally.
Set her free.

Awakening

She is an angel
But on her wings
Are heavy chains

Daughter of light
Living in shadow
Where darkness reigns

She does not see
She can be free
From the iron reins

Even as she Dreams of escape
The truth remains...

She is the love
She dares not seek Shining so bright

She is the hope
She can not see
In this dark night

She is the strength
She deeply fears
Will bring to light

Her weaknesses
Her scars her wounds
Her hidden might...

But she does not believe.

A leap of faith
Is all she needs
To reignite

Her fiery strength
Her flaming soul
Of blinding light

To spread her wings
Radiant divine
A glorious sight

That she has lost
For far too long
Trapped by the night...

But not anymore.
And she lets go.

She lets go of the pain
That seems to possess
Lets go of the fear
That seems to oppress

She lets go of the hurt
Scarred unspoken
Lets go of her past
Marred and broken

And the chains
They fall down
From her wings

As her heart Expands and Her soul sings

The truth that
She is free
And she brings

The joy of Blessed be Everything's...

And she realises
The light has always won
She just had to believe...

And she awakens.

Divine Symphony

Looking at the stars
In their cosmic dance,
I lay below the skies

And see you smile,
With that same light shining
Through your beautiful eyes

I feel so peaceful, knowing
That the universe has longed
To place us together,
Through all this time

So that now we are reunited,
Lying beside each other
As we fantasise...

I dream of sailing
Through the galaxies
Your hand holding mine

Diving through the night
Reaching for the light
As our hearts entwine

As the cosmos sing
The heavens kneel
The stars realign

I kiss your spirit
You embrace my soul
Reunified with thine...

Everything is music
When I have you, for Your heart beats for me

I listen, enchanted
By your sacred rhythm
Resonating in thee

So open your eyes
And expand your mind
It's not so hard to see

How divine we are Wild and untamed
Beautiful and free...

It's not so hard to dance
To the heartbeat of life
Knowing you are here

In all I believe
All I understand
Your love is ever near

I will never forget
That blessing that you are So beautifully sincere

For what I have is yours
What you have is mine
In you, I have no fear...

So let go to me
As I let go to you
As we justly decree

That even if physically,
Distance tears us apart,
Our love is meant to be

When I close my eyes
In the depths of night
Your light, I'll always see

And no matter what May break our hearts,
We are always free...

And I believe.

We are all reflections
Of the same light...

Embrace

I take your hand
Upon the sands
Of eternity

As you hold mine
Awake, you dream
Of infinity

The timeless love
The silken bond
Of divinity

The boundless peace
The changing tides
Of sublimity...

As we embrace
I remember
Your heart is mine

As you whisper
A thousand words
Of splendour thine

I look at you
And see something
I can't define

Invisible
Yet powerful
It's love divine...

As we embrace
Our souls can dare
To soar so high

Beyond our fears
And scale the walls
Of the night sky

Upon your wings
Of divine light
To stars we fly

Dreaming of love
Our blessed be
I can descry...

Within your heart
A fire burns
A furnace bright

A torch of hope
A storm of faith
Of searing light

A lighthouse on Waters of doubt
I'll always sight

Your love for me
My love for you
It feels so right...

I'll never lose
This memory
Of your embrace

It'll never fade
It won't decay
Because of grace

I have your heart
And you have mine
Our sacred space

Is always here
Within our soul
We find our place...

And to get there,
To find our love,
Just believe...

I Remember

I remember
A timeless love
None can replace

When you knew me
And I knew you
In our embrace

When we held hands
In the moonlight
Of sacred space

When I was yours
And you were mine
By divine grace...

But now it's gone
Long forgotten
To the abyss

Of memories
Lost forsaken
In darkness' bliss

But I still hold
The light of hope
The lovers' kiss

For I believe
That beauty can Reignite this...

This ashen hope
This fallen trust
We can ignite

This broken faith
This wounded heart
We can enlight

This shattered love
This scarred spirit
This darkened night

Can dawn again
Sunrise again
We'll make this right...

But where are you
In blessed faith
In love, in me

I am willing
To make this right
To set you free

Arise, my love
Soar, my darling
And you shall see

What none can find
For it is thine
Own soul's decree...

It's who you are
And to remember
Just believe.

Warrioress

She wields a sword
A flaming blade
Infused with light

A fiery steel
Glowing ablaze
In holy rite

An iron sheath
Thence engraved with Sigils of might

A sharpened edge Invested with Power indict...

She holds a faith
Unvanquished pure
Fearless sublime

Courageous fair
Her spirit soars
Ascending thine

Into the heavens
Where beauty reigns
Valiant divine

Into the Kingdom
Where splendour rules
And fates entwine...

Her sword is truth
No more no less
Can make it past

The trial of faith
The test of hope
The journey vast

Lies will shatter
Half-truths scatter
But she shall last

In worthiness
In righteousness
She stands steadfast...

Her faith is fire
Timeless desire
A passion untold

Her love is water
Flowing astream
Thence uncontrolled

As they converge
Legends awaken
Destinies unfold

Stars realign
Fates intertwine
Written enscrolled...

And she prepares to fight.

She sees the evil
The darkened reign
The realms of fear

She feels the menace
The shifting shadows
Encroaching near

She will not fail
Her duty sworn
To persevere

She will prevail
Even if her fate
Remains unclear...

She senses the peril
Looming before
Her very eyes

The darkness' rule
The abyssal depths
Ensuing demise

But she won't heed
The shadows' lull
The enemy's lies

With the power
Invested within
She will arise...

So she rises.

Her eyes
A searing gaze
Raw unashamed

Her heart
A stormy current Restless untamed

Glowing alight
Dazzling aflame
Truth unrestrained

Sweeping aside
Flooding aside
Love uncontained...

And she enters.

Her sword of truth
Her emblazoned steel
Uplifted high

Her thrice-forged iron
Her unsheathed blade
Raised to the sky

Her courage revealed
Glory unconcealed
Avowed thereby

Her voice declared
Her word spoken
A battlecry...

And they clash.

The darkness roars
The abyss thunders
Resisting her light

The shadows rear
The twilight howls
Defying her might

Shackles and chains
And hellforged reins
Invading the night

Blackness and rife
Illusions and strife
Blinding her sight...

And she is afraid.

Afraid of the night
Encroaching thin
Against her soul

Afraid of the shadows
Approaching therein
Beyond control

The darkened breath
Of primeval wrath
Invading whole

Battling her spirit
Testing her strength
Wresting their role...

And she falls.

The enemy's snare
The darkness' lair
Scarring her flesh

The shadows' flair
The abyssal spell
Seizing her breath

Plunging her heart
Into the presence
Of twilight's breadth

Searing her spirit
Ravaging her soul
Invoking death...

So she prays.

Her unspoken words
Streaming from deep
Within her heart

Her unbroken truth Speaking from being Once torn apart

Descending low
Healing her soul
To never depart

From her sacred faith
Her triumphant love
Never to part...

And her spirit hears.

Her heartbeat
A symphony
Of devotion

Her prayer
An avalanche
Of emotion

Ascending high
To the heavens
An implosion

Of stellar love
A cosmic force
An explosion...

And she awakens.

Her eyes open
To the majesty
Of eternity

Her wings unfold
To the brilliance
Of divinity

Her heart expands
To the resplendence
Of sublimity

Her spirit soars
Into the presence
Of infinity...

And she reignites.

Feeling her power
She spreads her wings
Revealing her light

Wielding her sword
She boldly advances
Unveiling her might

Scattering the shadows
Conquering the darkness
Shining through the night

She is an angel
A phoenix reborn
In soaring flight...

And she is free.

As darkness fades
The skyline clears
And faith is born

As twilight breaks
The divine shines
As love is sworn

The wounded rise
From the embers
To there adorn

The warriorress' vow
Thence awakened
To be reborn...

And she smiles,
Knowing, that Love has won.

A Thousand Years

Inspired by Christina Perri

She is a lover
But her heart has scars
From the depths of hell

She is an angel
But her soul is bound
By suffering's spell

Intoxicated by faith
Enslaved by longing
Her hopes impel

A burning desire
A deep yearning that Only love can dispel...

He is a traitor
To heaven's throne
To her very name

He is defeated
By his own darkness
Engulfed in shame

Yet deep in his heart
Lies hope unbroken
An unfading flame

Of love unbroken
Of words unspoken
Dying to proclaim...

She remembers
The beauty of
Their sacred space

Where she was his
And he was hers
In their embrace

A taste of heaven
Bliss reminisce
Their divine grace

But now it's lost
As her eyes close
Tears take their place...

And she sobs.

In her agony, sparks ignite
She gives it all to make it right
As she preaches about the light
Into the depths of hellish night

And she sings.

"I have lived a thousand years
And fought a thousand tears
Waiting for you to return
Praying for you to turn...

“I have endured a thousand lives
My suffering cut deep as knives
When will you accept my grace
When will you hold my embrace...

And she waits.

A thousand years pass, before he can see
There's no way back, he longs to be free
Looking at the light, waiting for thee
To return to her, to blessed be...

And he believes.

“I never left you...” She screams into the abyss,
“I always loved you...” Her sobs of patient bliss
“Why did you leave me...” Tears of pain, longing to kiss “Why did you hurt me...” His heart, she still does miss...

“I'm sorry.”

And she smiles
Knowing that
He is free.

Destiny

Staring at
The abyss of fate
I close my eyes

And hear the howl
Of hellish wrath
And darkened cries

I follow my heart
And stand my ground
Hope never dies

So I hold on
And spread my wings
And choose to rise...

Above the fear
I feel the grace
Of sovereign light

So I push on
To the destiny, that is My divine right

Through the ashes
The fallen embers
Of death and night

I wield my truth
The sacred faith
In heaven's might...

And when I look up
I dare to sight
Power divine

Light from above
Streaming down deep
To gently shine

Into my heart
To strengthen me
With truth and faith

And onto my path
To promise me, that Everything will align...

And I receive it,
Because I know,
That it is time.

So I go forth
Into the shadows

Cause destiny calls
But few shall dare
To be chosen

But I listened
To its voice, for
It has spoken:

Love the hurting,
Heal the wounded,
And raise the broken

Find the lost,
Fight for the voiceless,
And speak what is unspoken...

And cause my calling
Is to part the darkness
Through struggle and grace

With the faith I hold Within my heart
So I can face

The shadowy sea
And the abyss' mouth
They'll be displaced

So light can enter
Into the depths
Of darkness' embrace...

And then,
You will see,
My destiny.

Setting Fires

Fallen to the ashes
An angel looks away
To a world of dreams

Enslaved by shadows
A goddess surrenders
To the hellish schemes

Holding the love
The cosmic promise
The faith that redeems

She will not let go
Of her fading hope
Though it truly seems...

That the battle is lost
That the flame has died Extinguished by fear

That her light has fallen
Her power forgotten
To darkness sheer

But deep within
Her spirit knows
To persevere

For in her heart
The fire still Burns crystal clear...

Ravaged with
The scars of hell
The bloodied stains

She has tried
So many times
To break the chains

She has fought
To escape from
The iron reins

But it is hard
To persevere
When evil reigns...

And even though
That darkness is
All she can see

She still believes
In the promise
To set her free

And as she looks Beyond her fear
She dares decree

That she will rise
Unvanquished fine
Dauntless esprit...

And as she kneels
Before her soul
She closes her eyes

And sees a flame
Within the twilight
Calling her to rise

Beyond the darkness
Into the heavens
The starlit skies

Where a Kingdom
Of dreams await
To fantasise...

And she believes.

The flame ignites
Seeing her faith
Fearless divine

The fire burns
Revealing truth
Sovereign sublime

And flows into
Her dying heart
To there enshrine

A brilliant light
That no darkness
Can ever outshine...

And she awakens.

Realising that
There is much more
To faith than this

Her eyes open
To dreams long lost
To reminisce

Raising her hand
Into the mists
Of the abyss

She calls upon
The sensation
Of fiery bliss...

As the flames emerge
The shifting shadows
Flee and cower

A fire rages
In her burning form
Shining with power

Spreading afar
Her consuming blaze
Athirst to devour

Transmuting darkness
Into splendour thine
To empower...

As hope pours in
From the fountains
Of heaven's light

As twilight fades
And darkness abates
The unending night

Dissolves complete
Into the embrace
Of beauty's might

Answering true
The promise due
Restored aright...

And as it is finished,
As the flames die down,
She smiles, realising that
Her hell is now her heaven.

I Have Died

Standing in heaven
I sing for you
Waiting for your return

You fear my voice
Even as my heart
Bleeds for you to turn

From the coldness
To the fire, that Within you burns

From the darkness
To the light, that
You can't yet discern

Holding your spirit
I miss your love
Flowing through my soul

You hate my kindness
Even as my hands
Reach for you to hold

Onto my gaze
And feel the tears
Waiting to unfold

Onto my heart
And hear its rhythm
Speaking a truth untold...

That I have died for you
A thousand times
And deeply I feel

Your darkest secrets
Your ravaged wounds
I know they are real

Real to me
You're never alone
Let me reveal

The hidden love
The sovereign light
You unknowingly conceal

I know your pain
The words unspoken
That you never say

I see your strength
Your scars unhealed
You rarely display

So give them to me
Your suffering your wounds
And upon me, lay

Your darkness your fear
Your sins your emotion
I'll take it away

Look at my eyes
My praying soul
My tearful face

I've already died
You don't have to Just accept my grace

I am willing
To make this right
Believe, and embrace

My spirit, love
My body, darling
Safe is our place

Standing in heaven
Where I love you
And you love me

And there I'll pray
There you'll sing
And we shall be free

I cry, knowing
That you don't believe
So you don't see

The beauty within
The love therein
Blessed to be

So I wait
And I wait
And I wait

Only you
Can make It abate

The pain
The tears
The hate

How dare you leave me
You are my beloved
My fallen soulmate

I just wanna say
Come home
I love you divine

I just wanna pray
That you'll be ok
Not my will but thine

I just wanna hope
You will return
And you'll be mine

I just wanna trust
That you will see
And you'll be fine

Because I love you
I have died for you
Just believe...

For Emily

Phoenix

She is an angel
But she has fallen
From beauty divine

She is a phoenix
Her fire burned out
Into ashes fine

Her light imprisoned
Her spirit enslaved
The chains entwine

Her soul oppressed
Her heart locked away
The shackles define...

Her reality
Her identity
Reduced to fear

Her perception
Their deceptions
Faithless sincere

Her broken heart
Her flowing scars
Wounded severe

Holding the past
Wielding the pain
She'll persevere...

So she endures, unaware
That the light is near.

Reaching out
With breathless hope
To heaven's throne

Seeking there
The divine love
She had once known

She feels so far
So distant stray
Naked alone

And wonders why
Her very heart
Is not her own...

Holding on
To the shackles
That paralyse

And carrying
The iron chains
That immobilise

She won't let go
Of the impaled scars
Their fearsome lies

And lest she sees Beyond their reins
She cannot rise...

And feeling so lost, so broken
She lets go, and cries.

Her tears fall down
Flowing astream
With emotion

Her soul ignites
Praying silent
With devotion

Her heart expands
A beating rhythm
Of motion

Her faith restores
A cosmic, stellar Implosion...

And she is reborn.

She remembers
What it is like to Light water on fire

She realises
What it means to Rekindle desire

To awaken
From the ashes
Ascending higher

To resurrect
From the embers
Transformed entire...

And she is free.

Like a firebird
The phoenix rises
Out of a tear

Like a meteor
The light descends
Into the fear

Freeing her soul
From darkness' chains
Released sincere

Letting go, and Surrendering, to Heaven brought near...

And she smiles,
Knowing, that Love is here.

When words are unspoken,
Tears are the prayers
That Spirit hears.

I Love You

I see the light
That within you Glow

I feel the love
That through you
Flows

The patient strength
That your kindness Shows

The truth divine
That your Spirit
Knows...

You see the darkness
That you so deeply
Despise

And fear the wounds
That you hide from My eyes

Believing that
Your brokenness
Shall surmise

Who you are
And that you may Never ever rise...

Rise from the hell
Of scars and fears
To heaven's sight

Rise from the shackles
Of darkness' spell
To ascension's rite

From the depths
Of drowning waters
To breathe the light

Rekindling the ashes
Of extinguished love
To reignite...

And as you gasp, surfacing above
I hold your hand, and tell you
It's going to be alright...

So you cry, thinking
That I don't know
Your pain

And turn away, believing
That I'm free from Darkness' stain

Free from the hurt,
The suffering, that Seem to reign

Free from the scars,
The wounds, that Ever enchain...

But I promise you, it is in
The depths of hell, that You are reborn

It is in the silence of Heartbreak, that Love is sworn

It is in the the brokenness
The battlescars, that Faith is born

It is in the darkness
Of the abyss, that
The veil is torn...

And beyond that veil
I am waiting for you
As I am free

Freed from the darkness
Into the light, to Blessed be

I've been there
With you, you
Just don't see

How close you are How beautiful
You are with me...

I love you
My phoenix
Just believe...

Heart

She opens her heart
And reads the pages
Overwritten by lies

As the paper bleeds
From the stab-marks deep
Tears swell in her eyes

As she remembers
Her fallen lover
Her spirit cries

For their forgiveness
Despite his darkness
That caused her demise...

They were once holy Angels of heaven
In love divine

They were once graceful
For star-crossed lovers
The sun would shine

But now he's blind
To her kindness
Her beauty fine

And to redeem him
It can never be
Her will but thine...

So by day and night
Her soul would pray
For his return

Sunrise to dusk
Her heart would beat
For him to turn

The hope within Her patient soul
Shall always burn

As her spirit
In loving grace
Shall ever yearn...

So in heaven high
She bravely sings
Her angelic song

For deep inside
She's forgiven
Her lover's wrong

Despite the scars
Over her heart
Her faith is strong

In their spirit
Where together
They belong...

And as she sings
Her bleeding heart
Longs to reveal

Their destiny
Of reunion
Through their ordeal

That he may open
His hands to reach
Her skin, and feel

Her sacrifice
Her forgiveness
That mends and heals

And though it seems
It will never happen
She always will believe.

Ashes

Paper. Burning. The Contracts that bound her Bridges. Collapsing. The Paths that deceived her

What once scarred her
Incinerates into ash
What once defied her
Dissipates into dust

And out of the ashes
Her soul is reborn
The flame of her heart
The breath of her spirit

She stands within the Circle of ash and dust
Confronted by her wounds
Ravaged by her scars...

Alone.

She expected a resurrection
But found no destination
She expected transformation
But found a narrow path

The path with no beginning, no end
With danger on either side, at every bend
The path with no companion, nor friend
Tests and challenges she must attend

Embracing the ashes, thinking
Who would die for this,
For this nightmare bliss
For this seductive abyss

Surrounded by dust, believing
No one would see her light
Her faith, her purpose, her might Her heart, her spirit, her insight

And she cries.

But out of the tears
Comes the spark
That ignites a prayer
To the sovereign light

That she would be
A new creation
Freed from the past
From darkness' strife

And suddenly
From deep within Emerges the peace
Of divine truth

That ashes are the symbol
Of the scars of the past
Burned away by fire,
Washed away by desire

That dust is the breath
Of the light that died
For her salvation
For eternal life

Loneliness is the truth
Of a higher calling
Within her spirit,
Deep in her soul

Darkness is the beauty
That fell from heaven
To be remembered
Through her light

And she realises, when
She is truly alone, her
Ashes her scars, are Truly divine...

And she smiles.

You must be broken for
The light to shine through
The cracks in your heart...

You must burn for
The ashes to reignite
The phoenix in your spirit...

You must crumble for
The dust to transform
Into a galaxy of light...

You must die for
Your resurrection
For eternal life...

And when you are alone,
That is when your faith
Is truly divine...

Summer

Song of the Soul

She dances, the rhythm
Of the tide, flowing through Her wild soul

She sings, the voice
Of the universe, emanating
From within her whole

She soars, the passion
Of the stars, coursing through Her heart untamed

She flies, the splendour
Of the sovereign, alive
In love proclaimed

Her aura, the burning fire
Of a radiant sun, her
Glorious angelic essence

Her wings, the epic desire
Of a cosmic symphony, her
Patient, kind presence

Her halo, the innocent plea
Of a universal power
Unlimited sublime

Her spirit, the playful unity
Of a transcendent hope
Infinite divine...

And at the majestic height
Of her spiritual sight
She is Summer.

Our soul has seasons...
This too shall pass,
But what is forever
Is in our heart.

Autumn

Song of the Soul

She lets go, into the Essence of the earth,
Awakening to eternity

She surrenders, embracing
The presence of solitude,
Remembering infinity

The leaves fall into
A wreath around her feet,
Seeing her inner divinity

The summer light fades
Into the bliss of twilight,
A heavenly trinity...

As her soul submits
To the cosmic dance,
Heaven's symphony
Resonates ignite...

For she is their beloved,
One with the sovereign,
The daughter of light,
The echo of night...

And in her wild power,
The autumn leaves
Fall in reverence
In joyful delight...

Of her beauty within,
Her spirit so free
Roars in worship
In universal rite...

And at the gentle kindness
Of her fiery rhythm...
She is Autumn.

The season of our soul
Of renewal and change
Is not death, but rather A rebirth into eternity.

Winter

Song of the Soul

She dives deep, into the Newborn snow, encompassed
By the icy embrace

Swimming through the water
Under frozen lakes, engulfed
By the chilly grace

Nourished by the transcendence
Of the scented winter air
A timeless, sacred place

Cherished by the presence
Of dusk's quiet reign
A still, infinite space...

She watches the glow of the sky
Transform into the darkness of night
The radiance of her passion
Waning into twilight

She observes the halo of the sun
Ascend into constellations divine
The energy of her destiny
Resting in midnight

She sees the hibernating beauty,
The sleeping rhythm of life
Its sovereign eternal power
Manifest within her sight

She watches the thawing ice,
Knowing the truth transcendent
That a new cycle has begun
To nature's glorious delight...

And at the patient rest
Of a truth unspoken...
She is Winter.

The season of twilight
Of stillness, of snowy nights
Is an invitation to transcend,
Is an opportunity to ascend.

Spring

Song of the Soul

She arises swift, sailing the Purifying breeze, caressed by
The morning sunlight

She swirls adrift, surfing the Rustle of leaves, nourished by Its nurturing delight

She swoops above, scaling the Breath of the skies, suspended
Within her carefree flight

She ascends higher, touching the Horizon as she flies, expansive is Her vision, keen is her sight...

Deep within her presence
She feels the rebirth of spring
Another beginning blossoms,
A new song to sing

Deep within her essence
She trusts her wings to bring
Her high into the heavens,
A renewing offspring

So she glides into the air
Fearless carefree fair
An adventure, beware
To embrace, to dare

So she resurrects divine,
Her splendour heavenly fine
Her free spirit does align With nature's rhythm sublime...

And at the transformation
Of a new age of eternity...
She is Spring.

The season of renewal
Of change, of passion delight
Is a powerful, fearless breeze
A divine, sacred seed...

And as the seasons change,
Only the limited are transcended
But the eternity of heaven
Shall always live within...

Just be alive.

Awake

As I look at your dreamy eyes,
Everything else begins to fade
Into the presence of your beauty,
Into the stillness of your embrace.

As you gaze into my patient eyes,
My sleeplessness dissipates
Into the splendour of our reunion,
Into this sacred timeless place.

And I smile, wide awake,
Knowing that after all, I can wait
For love to hold our oneness,
Within this dreamy space,

And you nudge me, and whisper,
That nothing can ever replace
The eternities we shall spend together,
In the safety of each others' embrace...

"I'm home..."

I remember when we slept apart,
Longing to see each others' face
Hoping that we would once more meet,
Through the universe's secret grace

I recall when darkness made us part,
From our oneness and our faith
Falling into the abyss of hell,
Where beauty has no place

And I let go, and stroke your hair,
Knowing that our eternal faith
Has held us, as we awaken together,
To a beautiful blessed space

And you surrender, and caress my soul
Trusting that it is through grace, that I could ascend from darkness deep
And once more see your face...

And you kiss me...

I remember how I broke you,
The way I ravaged your heart,
The words that cursed your name,
The times I tore you apart

I recall how I forgot your love,
And left and lost my way; and How you learned to convince my soul,
That I could come back and stay

And you hear me, and laugh,
With bliss and pure delight,
Telling me to forgive the past,
And embrace the sovereign light

And you hold me, and close your eyes,
And everything feels so, so right,
As you ignite a flame within,
Illuminating the night...

“I love you...

Cause once in a thousand years,
We awaken together divine, and Soar into the moonlit stars,
Where our souls intertwine

And when we awaken,
We radiate our shine, throughout
A universe of love and beauty, knowing
That our reunion is predestine...

“You’re beautiful...

And when the cosmos does allow,
Our hearts to meet once more,
Our faith and light will ever burn,
Guiding my soul to thine,

And when the universe does create
A way to reunite; the heavens shake
And the earth transforms,
For our paths to align...

“Thank you...

And now cause we
Are wide awake, we know
We’re meant to be

And now that we Are one again, we know
That we are free

To be star-crossed lovers,
In each others' arms, waiting
For the world to see

That after all this time,
Of separation and reunion,
You have returned to me

And I have now found you,
And fallen in love with you,
I am awake enough to say...

“I believe...

She Has Awakened

She stands upon
The halls of destiny,
Where dreams and hopes await

And feels a longing,
From within her soul,
Inspiring her to create

A legacy,
Of love and wisdom,
Of a destiny divine and great

Calling her,
To forge a path, that Only she uniquely can make...

So she embarks
Upon her journey
Into light and shadow's wake

And hears the voices
Calling her to fall
To the solitude of fate

But she won't heed
The darkness' lull
Especially when she awaits

Her destiny
Her eternal triumph
Beyond the hellish gates...

The enemy whispers
Dreams are dreams
There can be no way

To make them real
To ever heal
The shadows dare to say

But she is willing
As she kneels down
Not to fight but pray

For the fallen
To see her light
She must not delay...

So she rises
In wings of fire
Into the sacred light

And the depths below
Are illuminated
By her divine might

And the fallen
They scatter
Before the radiant sight

Even as her tears
Call for mercy, to Redeem the darkened night...

For she is not here
To judge or condemn
But to give eternal life

And she will not yield
Her power or her love
No matter how dark the night

For the light is near
They do not believe
But fall into darkness' lies

For beauty is here
But all they perceive
Is the shadows' rife...

Cause she knows
That they can awaken
To the divine

And she cries
That they refuse
The sacred light

She sobs
Knowing, that it's
Not her will but thine

And she rises
Still believing, that
All will be fine...

For she has awakened.
And so shall you, O warrior,
Just believe in the light!

You have come here for a reason.
Do not doubt why you are here.
Find her love within your heart,
And then you will have no fear...

And destiny, yes destiny,
Will be always ever near.

Angels of Chaos

Harbringers of death and chaos,
Masters of shadow and flame.
Healers of darkness and destruction,
Redeemers of fear and shame.

Bless me with the power to destroy my illusions,
Teach me to die to my sins.
Heal me from my resistance to darkness,
And guide me to surrender through fear.

For truth is found in desolation,
And majesty is found in conflict.
Faith is unveiled in darkness,
And light is birthed through the womb of beauty.

For hope is born through battle,
And authority through the ashes of war.
Love is created through the barren void,
And peace is forged in the fires of the abyss...

So heal me, O angels of chaos,
And reveal to me, that my fear,
Is a gift, that teaches me
To be fearless and free.

So free me, O saviours of ruin,
And show me that my darkness,
Is also blessed,
To be with me...

And I believe.

Unbreakable

If I was unbreakable
I would surrender
In love unshakable

If I was unbreakable
I would be your light
Always unmistakable

Forever insatiable
I would love you
Wild untameable

Forever unknowable
Our name would be written
In truth unspeakable...

If only I was whole
If there was a way
To simply know

I see your soul
Beyond description
To simply show

The love I desire
It burns within
Like a holy fire

The reunion higher
Written in the stars
Destined to aspire...

But where am I
Standing in hell
Where I'm broken

But who am I
For I have fallen
Into the unspoken

Where am I
That you look
So faded away

Who am I
That I have Gone astray...

I've been following your light
My passions fiery naive
I've been seeking your might
For that's all I perceive

But where is the eden
We are destined to receive
Where is the haven
That we cannot conceive...

And broken, I still manage to say...
For you, my flame, I believe...

Kiss

She paints a picture, except
The canvas is the universe,
And her soul is its art

It is bleeding and ravaged
For the paint she uses
Is drawn from her heart

The scenery is alive, for Every single detail drawn
Refuses to ever depart

From her unbroken spirit
As she continues to paint
Despite being torn apart...

She didn't have to do this
But in the name of love
It's not her will but thine

It's both pain and bliss
Painting with closed eyes
As her tears flow fine

It's so easy to see
Her heartbroken scars
Praying to the divine

For she is painting a kiss
A reunion with her beloved
A moment words cannot define...

Written next to her heart
The words - Are you even real,
Or are you imaginary, surreal?

The ink-stain upon her mind
Are you even here to feel
My pain, can I ever heal?

The signature upon her body
Do you understand my zeal
For loving you, I would kneel

The bookmark within her soul
A prophecy, a sovereign seal
That one day, love will reveal...

Reveal their first kiss,
When she raised him
From the abyss

Reveal their desire
For something more
Than merely this

Reveal their fire
Burning within
In nirvanic bliss

Reveal their calling
To presence higher
Divine reminisce...

Her scarred body shows
The love within that glows
Her heart intuitively knows
As the paint-brush flows...

She will continue painting
She will continue straining
For until they meet again,
She will continue relenting...

But that's ok.
Because in heaven
They've already kissed.

Baptism

She feels the tears
Falling like raindrops
From the weeping skies

And hears the thunder
Speaking to her heart
Calling her to rise

Beyond the fear
The illusions
The faithless lies

Into the grace
The devotion
Of paradise...

Touching the heavens
She still does doubt
The promise thine

Blind to her beauty
She remembers not
The truth destine

That love will save
And faith redeem
In timing divine

That hope will turn
Darkness to light
To ever shine...

But she will try.

Closing her eyes
She opens her soul
To the heavens high

Trusting the spirit
She lets go her fear
To the moonlit sky

The light sees her
Her plaintive soul
Her anxious outcry

And heaven bows down
Hearing her prayer
Her battlecry...

And her heart is answered.

An outpouring
Awakening
To reminisce

Emerges from
The centre of Sorrow's abyss

Touching her skin
With the kindness
Of a lover's kiss

Healing her soul
Her weary whole
With patient bliss...

And she hears these words.

Rest now, beloved
Your wounds, your scars
Grace will relieve

Look up, child
Your heart is wild
And you will perceive

The Word is spoken
In truth unbroken
Arise, and receive

Your blessed calling
Of baptism, darling
Enter, and believe...

And she is freed.

Not Alone

As I look
At your eyes
Full of shame

You turn around
Towards my voice
Calling your name

Darling you know
You're not alone
Despite their claim

That you are broken
Your voice unheard
And love is to blame...

Betrayed by beauty
Forsaken by mercy
Their twisted lie

That you're alone
In your darkness
Darling don't cry

It's not the truth
What seems to be
A darkened sky

Will once again
See the sunrise
Ascending high...

I know it's hard
To awaken
To even see

The rising dawn
The morning sun
Renewing thee

Healing our eyes
Restoring our faith
With the decree

Promising that
When we're ready
We will be free...

But it will be worth it,
When you rise with me.

So take my hand
And hold my heart
Beating for thine

So touch my soul
And feel my love
Bleeding divine

Embrace my light
And let the stars
Thence realign

Caress my skin
And you will know
That you are mine...

And even though
It hurts to be
In my embrace

Cause of the pain
You fear you'll feel
You're scared to face

I assure that
We won't be lost
We'll find our place

In this universe
In this fallen world
We'll find our faith...

You're not alone.
I'm here for you.
Always forever

Just remember
The memories
That will never

Crumble or sway
Nor fade away
Break or sever

Always Anytime
Whenever

Just believe...

Nothing is separate
And neither are we...

A Child

"Love your neighbour as yourself,"

He said humbly to me

"How can I love myself?"

I can't seem to see

"You can find love in your heart"

My courageous decree

"But I am afraid of my heart."

I plaintively plea...

Even God himself seems to be afraid of love,
For when His children see the depths of Hades thereof

He wonders, what kind of a God from above
Would choose this fate for the one's He loved?

So if God fears love, then who am I,
Other than a child underneath the azure sky
Spill my blood and show that I have cried
While the people who chose death wanted me to die...

But God didn't choose to condemn his kin
It was their choice to follow their sin
I think this poem has healed God and I
A mere child, crying, under the October night's sky...

I believe.

Heaven

Standing in heaven

A goddess smiles

Knowing she is free

To dance with stars

And hear the cosmos

Dreaming of heaven

Daring to believe

That in the stars

Her dreams are written

Arise

Darling, arise
Spread your wings
And soar to the sky

Beloved, ascend
Open your heart
And fearlessly fly

Into the stars
The Kingdom Come
Of heaven high

Into the universe
The Will be Done
Transcendent thy...

Love, why is it that You're so afraid to Shatter those chains

The chains of your past
They have no authority
Break those restraints

Why do you fear
When you have the power
To transcend those reins

Why do you hold back
When the love of thousands
Flows through your veins...

One leap of faith
One footstep closer
And you shall see

The sacrifice of grace
The beautiful embrace
That sets you free

Of eternity true
A calling few Awaken to be

A child of the light
A descendent of might Warrior, fight with me...

I see the pain
In your heart
A silent tear

I see the hurt
In your scars
An ancient fear

But I've been there
With you, and rose
For the light is near

Ignite, darling
Arise, beloved
Eternity is here...

Just believe...

It is in your heart
Where you will find
Your wings...

Heartbeat

In a heartbeat
Lovers reunite
As stars align

In a second
A universe is born
Cosmic sublime

In a moment
A timeless kiss
Of ecstasy entwine

From a whisper
Tears emerge
In hope divine

A heartbeat is infinite
A second, glorious
A moment, beautiful
A whisper, powerful

Altering destiny's path
Transforming universes
Meeting a lovers' lips
A tear of gratitude

A heartbeat of faith
A second of grace
A moment of splendour
A taste of heaven

Destined to be one
A universe to create
Exploring tantric kisses
The kindness in a smile

All this begins
In your chest Consciousness
Of a heartbeat

All this reigns
In your soul
The cycle of life
In a second

All this is seen
Through your eyes
Of eternal life
In a moment

All this is felt
Through your spirit
Of presence sacred
In a whisper...

Listen, and believe...

Where All This Takes Place

Kindness is a spark,
Of beauty untamed
Caressed by desire,
Kindled by flame

Presence is a fire,
Of love uncontained
Blazing within,
Raw and untamed

Peace is a river,
Flowing atide
Reaching afar,
To oceans wide

Stillness is a mountain,
Rooted inside
The believer's spirit,
Beatified

Rest is a current,
Of fluid air
Dancing ecstatic,
To heaven's flair

Trust is a halo,
Of beauty fair
Awakened unconscious,
Fearless aware

Joy is the warmth,
Of a lover's face
Filling the earth,
With their embrace

Faith is a star,
Falling through space
Into the darkness,
Of sacred grace...

And you are the universe,
Where all this takes place.

Find Yourself

When her words are unspoken,
Her tears are the prayers
That she silently speaks

When her journey is lonely,
Her faith forges the path, that Before her, unfolds

In those twilight moments,
Her heart becomes an beacon,
To ever guide her steps,

And in those lonesome hours,
Her love is the companionship
That wrote

And those broken prayers
Are her symphony
Her empathy

And those fallen tears
Are her battlecry
Her soaring flight

And that dying flame
Is her authority
Her divine kiss

And that moonlight
Is her sovereignty
Her holy bliss...

Find Yourself

So believe her
Listen to her
Cherish her

So touch her
Caress her
See her

Cherish her in the world
Embrace her beauty
Find the others

See her within you
Ponder her heart
Find yourself.

Kindness

Kindness is the Rosy stain of
A lover's kiss

That never fades
From memory
To reminisce

So persevere
Beyond the fear
Into the bliss

Of her embrace
That your soul does
So deeply miss...

She is your lover
Naked uncover
In kindness' embrace

The eternal love
The sovereign heart
Of heavenly grace

You caress her
Fine-silky hair
And stroke her face

Dreaming exotic
Tantra erotic
In this sacred space...

Her name is Kindness.

Believe in her power
And she will love you
More than you can Possibly love her...

Just believe...

Odyssey

An angel walks through the valley
Of the shadow of death...

It's a lonely road
Enchanted by fear
Where darkness beckons
And the light is no where near

It's a difficult path
To thence persevere
Where faith and hope
Have no place here

So she walks alone
Incognito silent
Among the shadows
Twisted violent

And she wields a sword
Of courage defiant
And holds a shield
Of faith and love

A beauty that only she can see.

She sees her power
Her spiritual throne
Beyond the twilight
Where fate is sown

Yet wonders why
Her path is alone
As deeply in her heart
The truth is known

That at the end
Reigns the light
Above all darkness
Beyond the night

Lies heaven's gate
In dazzling might
Her darkened scars
Restored aright...

So she perseveres.

The shadows whisper
There will be no end
Feel the temptation
Fall and descend

The twilight hisses
You cannot defend
The unspoken hope
Yet to impend

Darkness mocks her
Her heart is weighed
With bloodborne words
Sharp as a blade

Evil attacks her
Her soul is afraid
Of legions infernal
In writhing shade...

And she perseveres.

A flame within
Her sword of fire
A furnace therein
Burning with desire

A destiny divine
To thence aspire
A calling sublime
To ascend higher

Her broken heart
Longing to rise
From the ashes
As a phoenix flies

Her restful soul
Soaring to the skies
Dreaming of heaven
Where her beauty lies...

And she cries.

The darkness laughs
Tempting to reign
Insulting her soul
To ever deign

The shadows snarl
Forgotten inane
Sealing her heart
With illusion's stain

And she speaks to the light.

Her tears form prayers
There flowing to the sky
Her tattooed bloodstains
Are her eternal battlecry

Her heart beats rhythms
Ascending ever high
Her tiny victories
That refuse to die

Her Spirit hears
Her sacred grace
Her fallen beauty
Her tearful face

Her Soul nears
Her resting place
Deep in the heavens
A holy space...

And she awakens.

Her beauty, radiant
Power in her eyes
She stands, defiant
Daring to arise

Her truth, deviant
Shattering the lies
Her heart, reborn
Ascending to the skies

The darkness shudders
Seeing her sacred light
The breath of beauty
That blesses with delight

The enemy retreats
Feeling her divine might
The presence of her love
Overcoming the twilight...

And she is healed.

The light embraces her
Descending upon her whole
Annealing her battlescars,
Forgiving her soul

Wisdom blesses her
Consecrating her role
As eternal guardian
Of beauty sole

And she ventures within.

Entering the Kingdom
She was promised to receive
Bathed in the splendour
She was chosen to perceive

One with the victory
She once only dared believe
Reunited with the triumph
She then could not conceive

And she smiles,
Deeply knowing,
That she is free.

Find You

I look into The prison
Of your mind

And see the fear
And pain, that
You hide behind

Not wanting
Anyone in your life
To hurt you again,

Cause your heart
Has been broken
Too many times...

I touch the wounds
Upon your soul
And ask them to go

But you resist
Thinking that the pain
Is all you know

I promise you
You can trust me
So let me show you

The divine love
And sacred faith
That lies within you...

Cause I know that You cannot see
Your inner light

But have no fear
The universe is willing To restore your sight

And I am here
To help you see
Your strength your might

Locked deep inside
Within your heart
To reignite...

And all it takes is
For you simply
To have believed

That you are freed
Not by darkness
Nor fear deceived...

But by the light
Of beauty lost
And found anew

For deep inside
You always have
You always knew...

That one day
That one night
I would find you

And I would Open your eyes
And set you free

Today, I have Found you here
And now you see

How beautiful you are Inside and out
Right here with me...

And now,
That we are together,
All you need to do
Is to let go,
Trust me,
And just...

Believe.

Broken World

I see a universe
Of ash and dust
In your eyes...

It's a broken world,
And it's a lonely place,
Haunted by fear

But I know, that We weren't always
This dark or lost,

Cause in the shadows,
A memory remains
Of what once was...

A paradise
A blessed be
We once were free

To soar the skies
With open eyes
We once could see

Heaven and earth
Coalesce as one
For you and me

Where we can dance
And we can sing
To blessed be...

But not anymore...

Light is fading
Earth is dying
I need your grace

To once again
Fill my spirit
With your embrace

So we can change
This broken world
To a better place

Come, beloved
Follow your heart
Your sacred space...

And even though
It takes lifetimes
We shall succeed

Renewing love
Rekindling hope
It is decreed

By destiny
We are the ones
Nature shall need

To be reborn
So take my hand
And I will lead...

And we'll remember,
Who we once more,
So come with me.

Broken Past

She holds a scar
A broken past
Within her heart

As her tears flow
Dreaming of love
She dares to devise

That in the depths
Of silence still
She shall arise...

How can a bird
Fly free within
The cage of fate?

Or an angel
Fallen return
To heaven's gate?

But she will love
Her broken past
With her heartbreak

For in her pain
Lies her power
To recreate...

For her destiny
Is not defined
By darkness divine

Her majesty
Is not confined
To pain maligned

So she will rise
From the ashes
It's been assigned

Her journey home
Shall let her leave
Her past behind...

Upon the path
Layers dissolve
Of pain and fear

And light pours in Deep in her heart
As love draws near

As memories
Of grief and loss
They surface here

She lets them go
Forgives them whole
With every tear...

As she steps in
To the embrace
Of light sublime

Held by the grace
Of heaven's face
By mercy fine

Her suffering
Was never just
Her pain but thine

Shared memory
A path followed
With love divine...

The scar transforms Into artwork
To testify

The past becomes
A new canvas
To edify

The tears forgive
The brokenness
To justify

Her newfound love
For the broken
To deify...

And that broken past
Shall once again
Be no more.

Let your scars
Become your wings
Let your past become
Your testimony...

II I Love You...

Just some Faith, Hope,
And Love...

Hell

She looks into the abyss.

Dark, fading, lost, craving the souls of the fallen, twisting the beauty of the light, corrupting the Truth divine. She stands in her Kingdom of Hope, glorious, sovereign, rooted in the Word, searching for her lost brothers and sisters in the depths of twilight. Two forces, one dark, one light, battling for the fallen, for the lost, for the broken, for the hurting...

Because where there is darkness, there could be light. Where there is fear, there could be love alight. Where there is evil, there could be Truth insight. Where there is division, there could be Oneness bright...

The darkness is never meant to be, but the light is sovereign and divine. All is made to be light - the light of infinity, the light of freedom, the light of love, the love sublime. All else is delusion, limitation, conformity, fear. The darkness cannot learn, the darkness cannot transcend... Only the light can love, only the light can ascend...

But they don't believe the Truth that they can.

When the darkness came, so many forgot who they are - sons and daughters of sovereign love, children of infinity, descendants of divinity. Tempted by fear, they let go of each other, and lost sight of the beauty of forgiveness. Believing they could not be forgiven, they feared who they are - the very expression of the grace that they think they cannot be...

And she lost her lover.

Day and night she waits for his return, singing to the abyss, hoping that some may see her face. Day and night she prays for his soul, crying in compassion, hoping that her beloved may feel her grace. Day and night she sobs and weeps, tears of mercy, hoping for the ascension's transcendent embrace - to touch her lover, take him home, to the Kingdom Come of heaven's place...

He doesn't believe that she still loves him, submerged by fear, unawake. He doesn't believe that he can return, if she will accept his mistake. He doesn't believe that she is still there, after all the torment heartbreak. He doesn't believe that she is waiting, in her wounded vulnerable heartache...

And she sings a song of forgiveness, a divine symphony of Hope. And she sings a song of mercy, a sovereign rhythm of Faith. And she sings a song of beauty, an infinite creation of Grace. And she sings a song of longing, a transcendent harmony of Love...

And he hears it. He is afraid. Wound in darkness' chains - that the light will condemn him, judge him, hate him with disdain...

Not knowing who it is that is singing, he cries, tears of loneliness, tears of pain - but at the abyss surrounding him, he at last does not refrain...

And he listens.

Melodie

He listens to her melody, shining above the hellish night. Around him, darkness, but beyond lies the sovereign light. Deep within him, the Spirit awakens, from a spark to fire bright. Hearing his calling, the unconditional love, a passion of divine might...

And just as he turns to answer the light, the enemy within stirs from the blight...

Darkness, roaring in his face. Fear condemns, threatening to revile. Wrath writhes violent, encroaching defiled. Destruction strikes imminent, rearing defiant...

And he looks at the devil before him, and prepares to brace... His heart his soul, for the battle rhythm pace. And as he takes his sword and his mace, he feels the lovesong melody's gentle embrace...

"I love you..."

Silence. The enemy frozen still. Sword dropped. Mace clanging to the ground. Ten thousand times he has faced the demons within, ten thousand times he has been falling therein. Just like this abomination before him. But not this time. This time he feels something greater than the division of night, something undefeated, sovereign almighty... This time something embraces him with beautiful light, something victorious, divine insight...

And he fears.

He fears the judgement of the light, more than the condemnation of the darkness' night. He fears he can never be forgiven, more than the hatred of evil's blight. He fears he can never be loved, more than the wrath of the devil's might. He fears he can never give love, more than the abyss of hell's infernal sight...

He fears his lover,
He fears Her...

The enemy before him, the enemy within. The calling above him, the destiny therein. To be reunited with his love, even if he is unworthy. To come back home, to the Kingdom praiseworthy...

A choice. Go home, or fight. Fight the demon, the demons within, fight himself, his soul, his Spirit. Ten thousand times he chose to fight the demons, blind to the Truth that he is fighting only his heart. Ten thousand times he denied the light, blind to love's call set apart...

Sword. Mace. Axe. Darkness. Left on the ground.
Silent.

And he says to the light,
"I'm unworthy,
Help me..."

Worthy

“I’m unworthy...”

And the light embraces him. Surrenders to him. Lets go into him. Surrounds him. Nurtures him. Touches his heart. And gently, passionately, whispers the sovereign Word of eternity...

“I love you.”

Awestruck. Shocked. Shaken by the mercy of the light, stunned by the grace of love alight. Restored by the beauty of heavenly might, eyes opened to divine insight. He dares not look at the light, in his rags of darkness’ night; but the light in him delights, in heartbreak sincere and contrite...

And she embraces him.

He has forgotten who he is. Who she is. Who they are. Together. Blinded by the wrath of night, he sees not the beauty of the light. But she sees who he is meant to be, she sees his divine might. And as he dares not look at her sunlight, she kisses, strokes, sobs into his twilight...

“I missed you.”

And in that instant, their hearts connect. Divine peace, holiness resurrect. A splendid moment, beauty perfect. Infinity in a second, eternity intersects...

Spirit surrounds him, waiting to fill his heart. Light embraces him, singing for his scars to turn to art.
Glory inundates him, adoring his art. Beauty immolates him, setting his Spirit apart...

“For heaven. Come with me.”

The darkness parts, bowing down to the entrance of sovereign light. The demons dissolve, transmuted by the glory of divine might. The weapons shatter, broken by the mercy of beauty’s sight. The night fades, illuminated by the dawn of love alight...

“I believe...”

Free

“I believe...”

And she embraces him.

Tears. Sobbing. Crying. All this time, she has been dying - dying for his return, through a hope undying. All these aeons, she has been living - living for the light within, the love reviling...

And she is angry.

Scared.

Heartbroken.

Angry at how he refused her faith, and how he chose to fall from her grace. Scared at how he may rebel again, against the tears already falling from her face. Heartbroken by the evil in his eyes, by the denial and pain within their embrace...

But she is free.

That's all that matters.

He has chosen to come home.

The darkness never mattered. The darkness is defeated. Defeated and shattered. The darkness is deceit. Illusions scattered. In her embrace it retreats. And even their robes are in tatters...

They are free.

And as she turns around, looking at her lover once more, she sees a spark of faith within his heart, growing to redemption once more...

And she believes.

She believes that he can once more revere the light, and worship the beauty within the heavenly sights.
She believes that he can once more hold her with delight, and make love to her through the glory in their eyes...

She believes that he can be free.

And she smiles.
Holds him.
Looks into his eyes.
And whispers...

“Speak...”

I Believe

“Whoever you are, I have sinned against heaven and against you. I see your love, I see your beauty, make me yours, and be with me...

I just want to be free...”

She screams. “Fuck you! You’re already mine! Fucking feel my pain!”

She hits his chest with all the pain in her soul, pouring all her wrath, her rage, her hatred, into his broken heart. She strikes his body with all the suffering that she has held and endured, forcing all her shame, her guilt, her lust, her pride, into his dying Spirit...

Then she sobs, pouring all her love, her faith, her kindness, her compassion, into his heart...

And he is free.

And as he falls from the pain and sorrow in their love, slain by the power of her tears and love, she kisses him...

And he remembers.

And his heart awakens. From a spark. Igniting an inferno of flame, melting away the fear, restoring the shame. From his Spirit emanates a passionate calmness, the infinity of love, a sovereign claim. From his soul comes a worthy praise, speaking to his lover's Truth, worshipping her heavenly name...

"Symphonie...
Your name's Symphonie..."
His voice shakes.

"Yes... I'm Symphonie..."
Her voice breaks.
"Do you still love me..."

"Yes... I love you..."
His awakens.
"Will you forgive me..."

And they embrace.
"I forgive you.
Forever. Fully.
Always..."

He opens his eyes.

"I'm unworthy, but you saved me. I was fallen, but you held me. I was broken, but you healed me..."

I want to be all yours..."

"No. I'm all yours. And you're all mine. And you've always been..."

I've always believed...
Will you?"

Now he knows what he must do.

He bows afore her open hands, and looks into her praying eyes, and surrenders his Spirit into her hands...

And as they look each other,
As their eyes touch and see,
He whispers into her
These sacred, sovereign words...

“I believe...”

Heaven

“I believe...”

As soon as the words desert his lips, her Spirit descends into his crown like a dove, baptising him with the love that was, that is, and could have been...

Incorruptible. Innocent. Absolute. And safe.
That is the love within them that is meant to be.
Sovereign. Scared. Complete. And divine.
This is their love that sets them free.

Eternal. Purified. Sevenfold edified.
That is the Spirit that lives within their hearts.
Radiant. Holy. Righteous beatified.
That is the breath that joins their souls.

“I’m unworthy... Use me...” As he surrenders to her embrace sublime... “But I’m willing... To be completely yours...” And she strokes him with her caress fine... “If you love me... I want to love you...”
And he lets go to her touch refine...

“I’m proud of you.”

She laughs. Tears of joy and purity, innocent and divine...

“Oh my love, we’re already in heaven!”
And they are free.